Double chance in play

Henley and Tea Tree Gully will be playing for the double chance this week.

The Gullies received a shock from Adelaide University last week, making it crucial they win on Saturday so the Sharks don't gain a greater buffer on them.

A Henley-victory would practically seal third place, but whether it can upstage the top two at any point is still to be seen.

The Sharks had a comfortable 74-point win over St Peters OC last week.

However, Tim Broadbent, Jeremy Johncock and Ryan Sampson will be out to turn around a painful three-point loss to Tea Tree Gully back in round three.

Remembering that contest should give the Gullies a boost going into this clash on Saturday and putting the disappointment of last week's loss behind them will also be a goal.

Goodwood Saints and Rostrevor OC remain the two pacesetters everyone else is chasing and will probably prove too difficult to catch, well ahead on the ladder.

The Saints always appeared to hold the upper hand against Portland last week, but the top flight fledglings didn't allow them to have things their own way.

The ability of Jesse Boundy, Anthony Dempsey and Lou Whitelock to break the lines with their pace was a compelling factor in Goodwood's solid 27-point victory.

The Blacks will see if they can pose some problems for the still unbeaten outfit this week.

The class of Damian Cunningham and Seb Paynter and toughness of Lucas Antoniadis gelled well in defeating Tea Tree Gully by 25 points last week.

Adelaide University could do worse than keep the ball in tight and make it a tough tackling affair on the small confines of Goodwood Oval, which could result in an upset.

Rostrevor OC showed it's capable of achieving back-to-back titles after giving their grand final opponents of last year little chance to get settled in their encounter last week.

The O'Malley's – Tom and William – and WKD Player of the Month Kieran Holland offered resilient rebound from across the half-back line to drive the ball forward for a conclusive 76-point win.

They meet SPOC at Caterer Oval on Saturday to uphold college rivalry.

Injuries are costing the Hawks dearly at the moment, with limited depth this season, but could still have a say on the finals, with their own entry or determining what sides actually make it.

They will need to get past Port District at home this week though to keep their own chances alive.

The Magpies were made to dig deep last week to overcome a dogged Gaza outfit by two goals in the wet – conditions that were relished by Sam Tonkes, Jason Nyskohou and Jay Williams.

Gaza's one last chance to stay in touch with eighth-placed Portland in an effort to still avoid relegation comes this week when the Eagles head to Port Reserve.

Tight for all positions

Every position on the ladder is likely to change in the lead-up to the finals in the tightest of all divisions in the amateur league.

No side can feel safe where they currently sit and moves are set to come on a weekly basis until finalised at the end of the minor round.

Two wins separate the top-three sides Payneham Norwood Union, Scotch OC and Prince Alfred OC.

Similarly, there are only two wins between fourth-placed Broadview and bottom side Flinders Park.

The Falcons used its 'get-of-jail free card' last week, pinching victory from Broadview in a tough contest.

It was close all day, with the Tigers pushing their advantage out to 17 points at the final break, but as is Payneham Norwood Union's will this season, it would not accept a loss and claimed the points late by the barest of margins.

A loss would have really seen the battle for top spot heat up, but as it is, it is not in the Falcons' grasp just yet.

Scotch OC showed it was ready to regain the top mantle if it became available, by outclassing Flinders Park by 54 points.

Prince Alfred OC was also made to work for its win, playing in lake-like conditions at Walkerville, but holding its opponents at bay to take away a valuable seven-point victory.

The top three just seem to manage to lift when they need to and will be the sides competing for the flag at this level, unless an unlikely collapse occurs or a lower side gets on a remarkable roll in the run home.

The Falcons host Gepps Cross at Payneham Oval this week, Scotch OC receives a visit from Sacred Heart OC and Prince Alfred OC is at Flinders Park.

A special mention must go to Sam Williams for his brave accomplishments last Saturday.

Under tragic circumstances where he lost his father in an ultra-light plane crash during the week, Williams chose to still represent his club PHOS Camden in honour of his dad who had also coached the side last year.

In a memorable performance, he kicked three last-quarter goals to steer the Phantoms to an emotional victory, just their third for the season, but one that could see them elude demotion with a couple more wins.

Tribute to Garry Williams ~

Tributes have flowed for Mr Williams, who last year coached PHOS Camden Football Club's A1 side in the SA Amateur Football League.

The club's football director, Steve Jacquier, told The Advertiser he had known Mr Williams for 35 years, having played league football together for Woodville.

Mr Jacquier said his mate, an all-Australian Teal Cup wingman in 1979, had left a huge hole at the club.

"He was just an intense, beautiful and passionate man and he coached the same way," he said. "He was loved by everybody ... you just don't think it's real, you can't fathom it."

Mr Jacquier said Mr Williams' family — his wife Meredith, son Sam and daughter Erin — were inconsolable after the tragedy. Mr Jacquier said Sam played A-grade football for PHOS Camden and had told him he wanted to play this weekend in his father's honour. "He provided great entertainment to us all over the years," Mr Morgan said. "He was a fantastic family man and one of the nice guys of life."

Bridgestone Australia, where Mr Williams and Mr Duggan worked together in the 1990s, also paid tribute today. "It is with great sadness that we acknowledge the tragic loss of our former work colleagues Garry Williams and Anthony Duggan," Bridgestone Australia managing director Andrew Moffatt said. "Garry worked at Bridgestone Australia for 23 years. He started with the company in 1983 and finished in 2006 as a senior management member of our automotive division.

"Garry was highly regarded and respected by all who worked with him and he will be sorely missed. Our thoughts and condolences are with his family, including his wife Meredith, son Sam and daughter Erin.

R.I.P Garry 'Gaz' Williams

Our thoughts and prayers go out to the Williams Family.

We at PHOS Camden Football Club are sincerely saddened by the loss of our friend Garry Williams.

Garry has been a popular figure throughout his time at the club, including his previous role as Head Coach for the A-Grade and more recently as a proud dad supporting his playing son, Sam.

Garry was a man with great integrity and high morals, which was admired by the entire football club community.

Our hearts go out to the family for this tragic loss.

As a club this is a time when we may be able to support the family just by listening and by doing the small things that may be required. It is a cruel reminder of how fragile life can be.

Our thoughts and prayers are with the family at this very tragic time.

Two years after tasting premiership success, St Peter's Old Collegians' Division One stay appears to be over.

SPOC are in last-place with seven games remaining, with a 1-10 record, and would need to win at least four of its remaining fixtures to stay afloat.

In 2012 St Peter's became the fifth side in SAAFL history to claim the Division One premiership after promotion from Division Two.

Now they appear to be returning to Division two, with St Peter's on a four-game losing stretch where they have lost by an average margin of 90 -points. The last three rounds they have managed just under 30 points a game, with attack and a lack of opportunities a key problem in 2014.

SPOC average 55 points per game, with only two players managing more than 10 goals in the opening 11 rounds.

Jared Coffee has kicked 13, while Ryan Herring has booted ten majors since returning to the side.

St Peter's lost its opening six games, but with the return of missing players secured a vital win over a Portland in round seven to give it hope.

Despite five of its last seven being at Caterer Oval, a 1-10 hole is a deep one. In an otherwise disappointing season, Nicholas Smith, Matthew Hill, Thomas Butler and Jordan Lockwood have been consistent performers. Gaza are in an equally unenviable position.

The Eagles have lost six straight, but have been much more competitive in recent weeks.

It was a slow start to the season for Gaza, with a number of returning and younger players coming into the side.

Brett Heintze, Adrian Stephens, Chris Radetti and David Allocca have been strong contributors.

Nathan Frederick has provided a strong forward option, kicking 38 goals.

In the same position as SPOC, requiring a minimum of four wins, the Eagles face a crucial three weeks with Portland (away), Salisbury North (home) and St Peter's (away).

MOVEMENT QUALITY IS DERIVED FROM EXPLORING A VARIETY OF PATTERNS AS WELL AS PLAYING AROUND WITH INTENSITIES.

Developing range of motion (rotation, flexion & extension) through your ankles, hips and thoracic spine will not only make you feel immensely more capable, but will also take you on an amazing journey of self discovery and realization. Building strength in these areas as well as stability at the knee, lumbar (low back) and scapula (shoulder blades), will enhance your ability to acquire and hold positions while under stress, thereby reducing injuries and improving athletic performance.

PHOS Camden has won three of its past four games - moving off the bottom of the Division Two ladder and boosting its chances of avoiding consecutive demotions.

After recording just one win to claim the Division One wooden-spoon last year, the Phantoms went winless through the opening seven rounds this season despite several closely-fought contests.

PHOS blew a three-quarter time lead against Gepps Cross in round two, went down to SMOSH West Lakes by 10 points and fell nine points short of Sacred Heart Old Collegians.

But after a few larger defeats to Division Two top sides, the Phantoms have started to click.

Their one year winless drought came to an end with a comfortable 44-point win over Flinders Park, before a thumping 65-point victory over the side demoted alongside them, Broadview.

On Saturday, PHOS overcame Gepps by 11 points an emotion-charged contest as Duncan Fraser Reserve.

Sam Williams kicked three goals in a fitting tribute to his father Garry, a former coach at the Phantoms, as PHOS climbed from the foot of the table.

The Phantoms are now ninth, and despite losing eight of their 11 matches have a healthy percentage which could be useful at the end of the season.

PHOS are a win behind eighth-placed SMOSH, and four points behind fifth-placed Sacred Heart.

The Lions are one of three teams with a 4-7 record which can still play finals, and still be relegated.

SMOSH has had patchy form, with its only consecutive wins in the first month of the season.

On Saturday the Lions defeated fifth-placed Sacred Heart for the second time this season, but the weekend prior they lost to Scotch by 106 points.

PHOS and SMOSH battle this weekend at Camden Oval, with the winner in a strong position to avoid relegation.

Kings realising capabilities

With several sides fighting for two spots in the top five, Pembroke OS recorded a vital victory last week against a higher side, beating second-placed Seaton Ramblers.

The Kings are finally realising their own strong capabilities and can use that knowledge to test any side in the competition.

Sam Willis provided the much-need run through the middle while Scott Wightman held up in defence as Pembroke OS cleared away in the final term for a stirring 23-point triumph.

Now the Kings can look forward to boosting their percentage, which will be handy, when at Kilburn on Saturday.

The Ramblers host fourth-placed Old Ignatians this week in another tricky contest while also needing to hold off Modbury from jumping above them.

Old Iggies were unable to restrict the Hawks advances themselves last week.

Modbury faces Salisbury at home, which should see it elevate its percentage as well, to close in on Seaton.

Robert Bartosik and Harry Stoneham steered the Hawks to a reliable 15-point win last week and should enjoy an all-played well game on Saturday.

The Plympton-Athelstone clash has plenty hinging on the result, with the victor to be the most likely to challenge for the top five.

Both won last week, but any slip up now could end it all.

The Bulldogs will look for another big effort from Matthew Downey and Daniel Buderick while Athelstone needs Josh Allen and Chase McPeake to be at their best again.

Nick Wark (12 goals) and the Khabbaz brothers, Andrew and James, from Unley Mercedes Jets savoured freedom they don't normally experience in accounting for Kilburn last week in a 260-point rout.

However, the Jets wouldn't want to assume ladder positions relate to how a side plays, with their weekend opposition Mitcham giving the Raggies a bit of fright last week.

Tigers test their metal

Salisbury West will assess its real premiership prospects this week in the top-of-the-table blockbuster against Golden Grove.

The Kookaburras have done little wrong so far this year and seem to be simply proceeding to ultimate glory at season's end.

However, the Tigers will still have other ideas and will see what is needed to beat the front runners, if not actually do so on Saturday.

Both sides are coming off very similar results last week, whereby Golden Grove defeated Glenunga by 105 points and Salisbury West defeated Woodville South by 100 points.

Todd Sheppard, Matt Pendlington and Brock Castree will be the keys for the Kookaburras while a team effort, with Dylan Tippett, Jack McCafferty and Justin Davies in stellar form, will influence the Tigers in this contest.

At home on Harpers Field though, should see Golden Grove hold sway, with the margin the most compelling factor to be waited upon.

Eastern Park will continue its own drive to home ground advantage come finals time by snatching second spot should Salisbury West falter over coming weeks.

The Demons are this week at Daly Oval where they should be too good for Hectorville, building on their persuasive 85-victory over Pooraka from last week.

Jaron Burke, Darren Huitema and Shawn Mansell should again be right in the middle of the action.

Kenilworth is making its presence felt in the fight for fifth spot, level on points with Pooraka and Hope Valley in third and fourth respectively.

These Kookaburras needed a hard fought one-point victory over Hectorville to remain in touch though and dent the Hounds hopes in the process.

They can send their former Division 5 counterpart Woodville South packing back down with a win this week.

Chris Salvati, Andrew Liverton and Blake Moser know they must simply keep winning to have any finals aspirations realised themselves.

Pooraka and Hope Valley should stay in the five after this week by accounting for Pulteney and Glenunga in their matches on Saturday.

WEEKEND INJURY CLINIC - 1800 888 925

Division 4-7 Review

By Ben Spencer

RELATIVELY one sided contests was a common theme among the four grades at the weekend as once more, the superior sides asserted their dominance over their less heralded opponents.

Division 4's top 3 continues to impress after strong wins at the weekend. Undefeated Golden Grove had a tough first half against Glenunga before careering away after the break to run out winners by 103 points. It was a hard loss for the Rams as the result has seen them drop from fifth to eighth and battling to regain a finals position. Salisbury West likewise had a convincing win over Woodville South and has dented the Cats aspirations of remaining in Division 4 for another season. New recruit, Tim Aloisi snared 11 goals in his second game for the club and will further add to the already potent Tiger forward line. Third placed Eastern Park continues to maintain pressure on second placed Salisbury West after another commanding victory. The Demons steamrolled an undermanned and inaccurate Pooraka as the Bulls had no answer to quell the prowess of Eastern Park's forwards. Other games in Division 4 produced closer outcomes as Pulteney came close to recording their maiden win of 2014, however, fell agonisingly short to Hope Valley. The win, albeit ugly, was enough for the Demons to move into the top 5 and equal on points with fourth placed Pooraka. One point was all that separated Kenilworth and Hectorville at the final siren as the Kookaburra's celebrated their triumph. In trying conditions, neither side could gain the ascendancy in the sea sawing battle. Kenilworth is currently percentage outside the top four, whilst the loss further worsened Hectorville's likelihood of playing finals.

Results at the weekend indicated the race to the finals will be intriguing viewing as 6 sides vie for fourth and fifth position. Anticipated to maintain their strangle hold on the competition, North Haven was upstaged by a hungry and strong willed Elizabeth. Trent Payne provided a strong target and was well supported by inform Peter Akech and Benjamin Taylor, the catalysts in the victory. After three weeks of turmoil and uncertainty, Colonel Light Gardens finally demonstrated it is a finals credentialed outfit, overpowering Trinity Old Scholars. Division 5 leading goal kicker, Arren Harvey booted 4 goals in conditions that did not favour big forwards and could possibly be the first footballer in amateur football to reach the century mark. For Trinity, the loss all but guarantees relegation back to Division 6 for the Lions. A tough and tight battle took place between Greenacres and CBC Old Collegians where the dolphins snared two valuable points towards securing a top 4 position. The repercussions of the Dragons loss are significant and questions are being raised, after starting the season brightly they have now slumped to seventh and have won just one game of their past 5. Elsewhere, Adelaide Lutheran continues to press their claim for a top 5 finish after a comprehensive win over Brahma Lodge whilst Westminster Old Scholars cemented a place in the top 5 after a 14 triumph against Para Hills. Another round, another week of huge margins as the gap between the top and bottom sides is widening by the week. West Croydon stole the headlines with their astounding performance over bottom placed Angle Vale. Expected to win comfortably, not many anticipated this result. The Hawks kept the Owls to just two points and in addition booted a whopping 53 goals to run out winners by 350 points. Evidently it has been a tough season for Angle Vale but hopefully they can string some good performances together and break through for a victory in the near future. A Shaun Jacobson inspired Rosewater ensured they retain second position after a convincing win over Mitchell Park. For the first time this season, Fitzroy are in the top 5. After a slow start to 2014, the

Lions are finding form at the right time of year and moved to be on level terms with Lockleys. Ingle Farm and Blackfriars Old Scholars both won emphatically over Central United and Mawson Lakes respectively to continue their outstanding form. Division 7 threw no surprises as results where as to be expected. The Top-of-the-table clash between Smithfield and Adelaide University failed to live up to expectations as the Panthers demonstrated why they are clear premierships favourites. Andrew Matthews and Scott Webber combined for 13 goals as the Blacks defence struggled to handle the onslaught of attacks. Dom Davis was the only shining light for Adelaide University on a dark and gloomy afternoon. Improving each week, Wingfield Royals appear to moving in the right direction. Their clash against Houghton Districts, although very one sided showed improvement having 12 shots on goal and its performance was a far cry from the one they dished up in round 2. To conclude round 11, Modbury had a commanding victory against Henley which has elevated the Hawks into fourth place. North Pines likewise had a confidence boosting victory, disposing of Sacred Heart Old Collegians and keeping its season alive.

Eagles sprout wings

Elizabeth brought North Haven down a peg, surprising the ladder leader last week with a strong 25-point triumph at home.

The Eagles have now opened up the fight for top spot, just when it looked like the Magpies were beginning to take control.

North Haven is just one win ahead of Colonel Light Gardens and Elizabeth so an interesting battle should pursue over the rest of the minor round.

Peter Akech and Stephen James must maintain the intensity even when lowly Trinity OS visits this week.

The Magpies, who rarely play well at the home of the Eagles – Argana Park, will be out to respond quickly, back at home on Saturday against Para Hills.

The Big Reds gave Westminster OS a good tussle last week, without being able to get on top at any stage.

The two Lions camps came together last week with the more skilled Colonel Light Gardens highlighting its supremacy to win by 53 points in the trying conditions of last weekend.

However, even in wet and windy conditions, the cream rises, with Emmett Wood and Josh Bennett putting all their talents on display.

It'll be a long trip for them again this week, heading in the same direction to face Brahma Lodge, which should see another comfortable outcome in their favour.

College sides CBCOC and Westminster OS would give themselves hope of a top-three finish now, with the winner from their weekend meeting well within the mix of chasing the double chance.

The Dolphins found the desire to win last week, in a tough contest against Greenacres, coming away with a grinding seven-point victory.

More will be needed though, if they are to rise higher up the ladder, but Warren Bowden and Shaun Turner will try to make it happen.

The Dragons got on top early in their clash with Para Hills and simply resisted any challenges to record a gratifying 14-point win.

Brett Mitchell and Josh Starling adapted better to the cold conditions and it appears that they will need to do so again on Saturday.

Adelaide Lutheran and Greenacres can make it harder for the others to make the finals, with success when they come together this week.

Elizabeth's confidence will be up after beating ladder leader North Haven.

CH9AFL U18's ~ Yellow & Red

By John O'Keefe

With 7 rounds to go until the finals action begins, the struggle to make the major round and, the jockeying for positions continues in the SAAFL under 18's.

Across in the Red Division Broadview put their finals credentials to the test when they met the undefeated Payneham Norwood Union.

In what was a close affair at Payneham Oval, inaccurate kicking proved the undoing of Broadview. A 5 point advantage to Payneham at quarter time was followed by a 1 point margin at halftime. But with 6 shots to 2 in the 2nd term, Broadview failed to capitalise on their opportunities. Payneham did not suffer the same fate in the 3rd as they held sway by 20 points at 3 quarter time, thanks to a 4.1 quarter. But Broadview fought back strongly and ultimately fell short by 5 points. If only they could have managed 4.3 rather than 3.4, as the untimely loss saw them drop out of the 5. Elsewhere, Modbury continued their resurgence with a win over bottom team Smithfield. Golden Grove returned to winning form with a punishing victory over Hope Valley. Tea Tree Gully defeated Gepps Cross by 95 points and, Ingle Farm held off the challenge from Salisbury to win by 36 points.

This week sees the top of the table clash with Payneham and Tea Tree Gully meeting and, a crucial clash between Broadview and Modbury. In the Yellow Division, clashes between the top half of the table and the bottom did not produce any shocks, as the results fell as anticipated. SHOC defeated Fitzroy by 21 points, Flinders Park won by 30 and, Goodwood Saints had a resounding win over Portland. Finally, Henley won by 58 points and Port District defeated Woodville South.

This leaves the status quo in the Yellow Division as Flinders Park continues to lead the way, with Goodwood and Sacred Heart closely following behind. Round 12 will see finals credentials put to the test as 5th placed Port District face off against Flinders Park and, SHOC and Goodwood go head to head.

Duel for fifth ongoing

Fitzroy leapfrogged Lockleys into the top five after its rigorous 32-point victory over the Demons last week.

The battle looks like continuing for both clubs as the finals converge on us, with several games to come before it is actually decided.

Lockleys could regain the spot back this week, as it faces lowly Central United and the Lions away again to close neighbour Blackfriars OS.

Nathan Rayner, Beau Pieterman and Rob Brodhurst will need to lift their teammates to greater heights to test premiership contenders, the Hounds, with the likes of Matthew Brincat, Brad Hillman and Phouc Vo.

Blackfriars OS answered all the challenges Mawson Lakes threw at it last week, showing its class after the main break to win by 37 points, holding its opponents to just three points in the second half.

The road does not get any easier for the Saints as they host Rosewater next up.

The Bulldogs maintained their status as the second best side at this level, with an authoritative 121-point thumping of Mitchell Park, but have a few sides willing to take over their position at any time.

Shaun Jacobsen, Jarrad Schar and Darren Grimmond will need to be on their game each week from here on in.

While the Hounds is one outfit keen to step up, West Croydon will also see its chances as promising to pinch a home qualifying final by finishing second or, at least, claim third.

The Hawks are currently fourth on the same number of wins as the two sides above and one behind ladder leader Ingle Farm.

After a completely dominant display against Angle Vale last week to produce an effortless 350-point win, they could be in the realms of achieving a similar result on Saturday as well against Mitchell Park at Flinders University Sporting Ground.

Zach Lakin, Steven Cooper and William Patrick will look to score another 50 goals plus for the second week in the row.

Ingle Farm remains top Dogs though, holding Central United to just three goals in its resounding 59-point victory.

Aaron Pligl and Mark Smart should enjoy having plenty of the ball again against Angle Vale this week.

Panthers penalised

Smithfield has incurred far-reaching penalties for infringements made within its under-18s side.

Due to a poor record, the club was on notice that any reports and corresponding suspensions handed down to any player at any level would result in points being taken from all grades, whatever the transgression.

This has seen the unbeaten Panthers in the A-grade lose eight points and fall from top to third on the ladder, while the lost points could jeopardise their B-grade's chances of making the finals.

It is a stark warning to the rest of the amateur league that harsh penalties will be issued if the zero tolerance policy to violence is breached.

Smithfield has the bye this week to ponder its position and regroup for the rest of the season.

Meanwhile, Modbury and North Pines have a crucial contest this week to remain in the hunt for a possible top-three finish.

The Hawks hold a one-win advantage at the moment over the Redbacks, who have one game in hand though.

Modbury had a sound 33-point victory over Henley last week, with Ryan Williams, Craig Fogden and Cody Symes proving stumbling blocks for the Sharks.

North Pines halted Sacred Heart OC's run to the finals, while setting up its own prospects.

Dean Ellis, Tyson Wanganeen and Derek Newchurch showed spirit for the Redbacks in the telling 39-point win.

The most susceptible side in the top three looms as being Adelaide University, which suffered a third straight loss last week - a decisive 141-point drubbing from Smithfield.

However, Adelaide University will bounce back this week when hosting Wingfield.

The Royals found second-placed Houghton

District too strong, succumbing by 126 points.

Michael Gilling, Mathew Wiseman and Nathan Hall are a couple from the Raiders' squad showing improvement for the hills side.

They now head to Henley on Saturday for a contest that could end the Sharks finals hopes.

SHOC must also win this week if it wishes to see finals action and meets SMOSH West Lakes away to stay in touch.

THE GOOD OIL – Stats and stories from around the league.

This weeks reports starts on a sad note. Everyone at the Bounce offers deepest condolences to all at the PHOS Camden football Club, on the passing of popular club man and former coach, Gary Williams on Thursday. Amazingly, his son Sam chose to play in PHOS's win over Gepps Cross on Saturday and even more fittingly, kicked 3 goals for the Phantoms to secure victory.

The Broadview footy club have had an up and down couple of weeks. Thumped by then bottom side PHOS Camden by over 60 points in round 10, a massive turnaround of events saw them almost upset top side PNU on Saturday, only falling short by 2 points. Ironically, the margin in the reserves match was

That gallant effort wasn't enough to win either team the nail biters award for round 11 though, that honour goes to Modbury AND Hectorville in C4 who played out a draw...and you can't get much closer than that! Plenty of other games decided by less than a kick in the wet weather besides those listed above:

1 point: Kenilworth d Hectorville (D4) Scotch OC defeated Flinders Park (D2R) Golden Grove d TTG (D8R), Goodwood d Unley Mercedes (C1), Seaton d Adelaide Uni (C2)

2 points: Mawson Lakes d Blackfriars OS (D6R)

6 points: SMOSH d SHOC (D2R)

Congratulations to the following players who achieved milestones over the weekend:

There is no longer daylight between Arren Harvey and those behind him who are battling to be the leagues leading goal kicker. With some leaner weeks from the gun forward and some great weeks from Rosewaters Nick Williams and Nick Wark, there is now only 10 goals between them.
